What city, according to National Geographic, has one of the most beautiful city beaches in the world?

Hint: It's Not Sydney

The quiet beach, with its clean golden sands, is located in the heart of the city. It is enshrouded by a forest, which offers numerous cycling paths. In summer you can come here and relax with your friends or family, or set a bonfire by the river. In winter you can enjoy cross-country skiing and enjoy the sights.

Which of the European capital cities has one of the most modern, most efficient and cleanest public transportation systems?

The streetcar network is almost 270 kilometers long. Thousands of buses can reach nearly every sector of the city. There are 70 self-service stations from which you can rent one of 1100 bicycles, and there is a modern, clean metro system that is currently expanding to reach even more locations across this vibrant city.

Hint: It's Not London or Madrid

A city to love.

The availability of high education places this city among the first fifteen cities in the world. The city offers both public and private schools as well as British and American schools that teach K-12th grade. Whatever your children's educational needs you will find them in this city. And it's worth to know that according to PWC research the crime rate in this city is relatively low. You can wander the streets after dark with no fear for you or your family.

Poland

is an amazing country that is often referred to as "Europe's rising star". There are 38 million inhabitants and nearly 20% of them live in ten largest cities. Poland is often said to be a country of contrasts. On one hand it is a dynamic and modern state and on the other it is a place where history is ever present and alive. It is a country with sandy beaches along the Baltic Sea in the north, snowy mountains in the south and vast forests and lakes in between.
